Abstract: Television as one of a mean in forwarding information, promotion and public entertainment. Local television station with limited area focuses in supporting public demand to present program done. To help better operational activities local television station requires a good and fast handling in administration, this done by using computer. Information system development based on computer will give many benefits one of it’s to see program schedule, detail program and find crew that does not in charge.

Keywords: Information System, Local Television Station, Program Schedule