ABSTRACT

This study aims to determine whether Yemen as a receiving state was responsible for the abduction of Abdullah al- Khalidi who was the Ambassador of Saudi Arabia in Yemen. This research is a normative juridical study, which means the research was based on a literature study towards legal materials that was obtained. The results of this study indicate that Yemen, as the receiving state, was absolutely responsible for the kidnapping of Abdullah al-Khalidi, who was the Ambassador of Saudi Arabia, because Yemen as the receiving state, must be held responsible entirely for the safety and assurance of any on duty diplomatic officer in its region.
