ABSTRACT

PT. Kawan Tour is a tour and travel service company that has been established since May 10, 2009. This report aims to analyze service failures, customer complaints, and complaint handling occurring in the front office department at Kawan Tour. The student who conducted the fieldwork in this company started the activities from March 23, 2023, until June 24, 2023, with a focus on the front office department. During this period, the student observed several issues, including complaints from customers regarding visas that were not processed promptly. Additionally, there were also customers who experienced complaints when submitting visa documents at the embassy. Another case encountered was customers raising complaints due to inadequate follow-up from the company regarding the tour participants' travel schedule. Despite the front office department's effort in complaint handling, in some instances, its implementation has not been optimal. Therefore, the student recommends that the front office department improve systematic complaint recording. By implementing systematic recording, the company can be more effective in addressing customer complaints and enhancing the quality of services provided. Consequently, PT. Kawan Tour can strengthen its relationship with customers and increase their satisfaction in utilizing the offered tour and travel services.
