ABSTRACT

This work report is taken or adapted from the results of field work that has been carried out at PT. Doran Sukses Indonesia, namely supplier relationship management activities. This field work activity is focused on the product management department at PT. Indonesian Success Doran. Activities carried out during the fieldwork process are to become product management staff whose job is to maintain the continuity of relationships with suppliers, by holding events, gatherings, and certain programs together with suppliers or company partners. Specifically, the tasks that are carried out when carrying out SRM activities are making event proposals, being a gathering committee, and contacting suppliers. After carrying out these activities, several problems have been found, namely the company does not provide attractive gifts to guests who come to the event and PT. Doran did not provide an attractive offer or event proposal. The results of this report indicate the role of the product management department at PT. Doran Sukses Indonesia has not been able to run optimally. For this reason, it is better if the product management department needs to evaluate their SRM activities so that they run optimally.

Keywords: supplier relationship management, event, gathering, gadget accessories industry.
